MORE MONEY.

Senator Delph hit the nail squarely on the head in his tilt with Stewart and Teller yesterday. He declared that the free currency men do not want a silver dollar that is worth a dollar in gold but a 50-cent dollar. There's the secret of this stubborn fight by the silver men. If they would retreat from their indecisive selfish position, it would create a sentiment so favorable to the white metal that the existing panic would be easily solved. When the silver men shall be prepared to permit silver to take its natural relation to the currency system, the prayer of the masses for more of the circulating medium will be speedily answered. Senator Faulkner's amendment to the repeal bill contemplates an honest adjustment of pending misunderstandings, but it cannot hope to succeed until the silver men recede from their present position. His amendment provides for the coinage of 3,000,000 standard dollars monthly out of the silver bullion now in the treasury, a prodigious large accumulation, and for the monthly purchase of sufficient silver to coin 2,000,000 standard dollars in subsidiary coins—quarters and halves. It limits the total coinage to $800,000,000, which would add to the value of currency sufficient for all demands. On the face this proposition is a fair one. It must be admitted, however, that the attitude of the silver men forbids that this equitable amendment shall be received with favor by the repealers. Therefore, so soon as the vote is taken and the cheap-dollar men are defeated, Senator Faulkner may reintroduce his amendment in the form of an independent bill. It will then receive the prompt approval of those conservative senators who are opposed to letting Stewart, Teller and Teller, avowed populists, and Call and Morgan, democrats, dictate to the whole people for the benefit of a few. With a 50-cent dollar defeated it will not be so difficult to provide for a 100-cent dollar in which silver will fare equally and honestly as well as gold.

REASONS FOR IT.

There was method in the madness with which the referees appropriated General Smith's appointments. But there is no solution for the disappointed democrats who are mad clear through. It will be noticed that General Smith's appointments are all but one from the Fifth congressional district. The eleven counties lying south of Kent and Otawa counties are wholly ignored. Those counties include such towns as Niles, Kalamazoo, Hastings, Grand Lodge, St. Joseph and Charlotte. The business in that extensive territory is very large, but it must be covered by deputies residing at Spring Lake and Ionia. That will incur large traveling expenses which the government must pay. The reason for the triangular and unusual appropriation of these offices is not far to find. The Holland vote and its bearing upon other appointments is at the bottom of it. A certain democrat Hollander named Haar is a candidate for the postoffice at Grand Haven and a gentleman of Grand Haven and a gentleman of his nativity is a candidate for the postoffice at Grand Rapids. Mr. Van Dugteren was appointed chief deputy for General Smith to satisfy the demand of the Hollanders in this city. The gentleman appointed from Spring Lake is also of Hollander antecedents. In those two appointments the Hollanders are fairly recognized. It would not do to appoint any more Hollanders. They have had their share and more than their share. The olive adjustment side-tracks Mr. Haar as a candidate at Grand Haven and Mr. Harvey as a candidate at Grand Rapids. The price was a pretty heavy one, even for the apologetic referee. It had to be paid in order to preserve the state from being cracked. That's why eleven counties are without representation in the internal revenue office; that's why the Hollanders are so numerous in that office; that's why democrats have been ignored to give places to mugwumps. That's one of the "changes" the old times prayed for, pleaded for, voted for—and got.

GROVER IS THROTTLED.

Grover is catching it right and left. His bull necked determination to have his own way is raising an awful commotion among the faithful. The appointment of Van Alen stirred up a hornet's nest, and the New York World led the savage attack on that muley trucking of power to boogie. Since then an immense fire has been kept up all along the line. Cleveland had no right to the nomination if he would. It would be a confession that the appointment was made to satisfy a corrupt bargain. Such a confession would set the tone of our great nation—thus declared. It would spoil his reputation for integrity and infallibility. It would never do. If Van Alen's head is sacrificed the senate must yield the crown. That this incident has made Grover shy. He is afraid to appoint democrats to office. He has had luck with them. So he has threatened to the mugwump. The mugwump is usually a very conscientious fellow whose religion and politics are so confused that in his prayers to heaven he addresses Grover. That may account for the ascendancy of the mugwump in this neck of woods. Over in Chicago they are having a very lively campaign for the postoffice. Frank Lawler is a democrat and he applied for the Chicago postoffice backed by a petition so long that the first name could be read in Washington while the last signer was subscribing his name to it. It looked like clear sailing for Lawler until Cleveland heard he was a democrat. Then other candidates were marshaled forth. They are gamblers and political plug-uglies without character or standing. But they have made a fight. In the midst of it Grover declares that he can neither appoint Lawler nor one of the toughs until the quarrel is ended. Simultaneously the name of a distinguished mugwump, Editor Hesing, is slipped into the ring. And Hesing will get the place. Cleveland was never known to fail in such an emergency. As between a sin-pure democrat and a sinless mugwump, Grover always prefers the latter. That is why the democrats are wild with chagrin and denounce their idol as a brass image without feeling, loyalty or sense. Do the republicans enjoy the circus? Well!

SECRETARY ROSENTHAL calls attention to the grand concert for charity to be given in Lockery hall next Monday evening. No truly sympathetic and large-hearted person will need to be reminded that this will be a grand opportunity to show his interest in the work prosecuted by the Charity Organization Society. To others it will afford a chance to get the full value of their money and at the same time aid a worthy cause. With two extremes thus attracted to a common center of good there ought to be a crowded house at the concert next Monday night.

EVERY time there is a fatal railroad accident the authorities grip up their loins and resolve to hold somebody responsible for the criminal negligence. It is gratifying that this time honored custom will be observed in regard to the recent wreck on the Grand Trunk at Bellevue. But the chances for securing the conviction of the officials who are responsible for the disaster will dwindle into the infinitesimal unless the public prosecutor exercises more judgment and ingenuity than is the wont of his kind.

To throw a bridge across the river at Wealthy avenue without a draw to admit of the passage of boats would be short-sighted economy in view of the probable deepening of the river. Even if the draw were never opened its additional cost would be compensated for in the shape of a notice to Congress that the stream is navigable and ought to be improved.

Nobody ever saw a discouraged insurance agent. The fact that this has been the worst year in their history did not depress the State Underwriters in the least last night, for they were as buoyant as men who spend their days in securing coupons from government bonds and their nights in accepting invitations to take supper.

EVERYBODY in western Michigan will be gratified to hear that the great plant of R. G. Peters & Co., will be returned to the original owners in a money-earning condition. The sagacious management of the property by the receiver has saved it from untimely bankruptcy and ruin.

EX-DEPUTY INTERNAL REVENUE COLLECTOR SMITH has disapproved the malicious charge that he would refuse to remain in the office to instruct his successors by accepting the invitation after he was tendered. He is too much of a gentleman to decline to do the graceful thing.

Months received a light installment of the Kansas cyclone yesterday. It lashed the waters of the gulf into a flood which submerged a part of the city and destroyed considerable property. And it was only an installment, as to speak, of the Kansas article.

FROM the enthusiasm with which the young christians are preparing to receive Evangelist Mills, it is apparent that the religious revival will be one of the sort that results in something more tangible than shouts and demonstrations.

STREET COMMISSIONER VERNER will need to take an elementary course in "How to Accept a Dollar When It Is 'True' to You." The council save his recent exercise in the primary art was unbusinesslike and reprehensible.

ALDERMAN NATHANSON has a very large and comprehensive stock of misinformation in regard to the motives which prompt others to dissent from his views of what is right and wrong.

Preliminary Arrangements for the Mills Revival are in Progress.

Committees Preparing.

EDITOR OF THE HERALD: A meeting of the general and executive committees for the Mills meetings was held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, to hear the report of recommendations of the committee on finance, a general consultation in regard to the active work of the various committees now being entered upon.

The interest seems to increase daily in these meetings, and the spirit of union and brotherly love is very marked and betokens the most united effort and determination on the part of all the denominations to use their very best efforts and energies to make these meetings so popular and interesting as to attract the attention of every citizen of Grand Rapids.

The committee on finance recommends the appointment of the sum of money required for these meetings among the various churches uniting in the work according to their numbers and financial strength. It is thoroughly understood that no church is assessed a certain amount, but that the money is a free will offering on the part of the good people of these churches, to provide the means to bring the subject of religion before the masses of our citizens who do not attend any of the churches, and also to awaken a deeper interest and more zeal on the part of those who do attend the various churches. Hence, the committee simply recommends that the pastor of each church be notified of the amount that the committee would like to receive from his church.

Will Advertise It.

The committee on advertising were instructed to enter actively upon the work assigned to them and to keep it up from now until the meetings are ended. The kind earnestness and press of the city to aid in placing this work properly before the public has been given by these committees, and the christian people generally appreciate the attitude of the press toward this movement. It is well known that the movement is not in the interest of any denomination, but with the hope that all denominations may thus be brought closer together and the work of charity and brotherly love and united effort for the help and elevation of all classes of our citizens may be made more prominent in the future than it has in the past.

After reconstructing various committees, where members were unable to serve, the meetings adjourned, full of hope for the outcome of this united effort.

AMOS S. MUMFORD,

Secretary Executive Committee.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Church and Bank Both Honor the Late M. S. Crosby.

The following resolutions were passed unanimously at a meeting of the board of trustees of the Fountain Street Baptist Church Sunday.

Whereas Hon. Moreau S. Crosby, who for many years has been a member of this board, has been suddenly removed by death, and we desire to express our appreciation of his character and our gratitude for the years of his helpful and generous service he has given to this board and to the Fountain Street Baptist church. Now, therefore,

Resolved, that in his death the state and community have lost a man who by his devotion to duty his public spirit and capacity for the highest and noblest of his fellow citizens.

Resolved, that this board and this church have lost a member who has borne more than his share of the burden laid upon his membership, and who by his liberal and wise counsel, and his efficiency in action, has done much to secure and preserve the property of this church, and by the purity and earnestness of his Christian faith has commended to those with whom he came in contact, that gospel which is the first object of the church to teach and while we mourn one stricken down in the midst of a useful and beautiful life, we feel that it is the doing of life's work he had accomplished more than is ordinarily given in a brief span of years.

Resolved, that these resolutions be inscribed upon the records of the board and a copy sent to the bereaved family of the deceased.

Action by the Bank.

The Grand Rapids Savings Bank, by its board of directors, has adopted the following resolutions, in memory of its late member, Hon. M. S. Crosby.

I. Resolved, that in the death of the Hon. M. S. Crosby, the Grand Rapids Savings Bank has lost an honored and highly valued member, one who was esteemed for his nobleness of character and rare intelligence, whose culture and ability rendered him an efficient co-worker in the progress and success of this bank.

II. Resolved, that the members of the board voice their respect and admiration for his noble character and many virtues, believing in his unwavering faithfulness, and the earnest purposes of his life. That his general courtesy and quietness, dignity and being remembered by those who knew him best and that his untiring energy in promoting the best interests of the business in which he was engaged and the city in which he lived, are truly worthy of emulation.

III. Resolved, that in his untimely death, friends and business associations will suffer irreparable loss.

Talented, respected, loved and honored he has gone from us, yet he is with us; his life work is done, but it was well done, he is dead, yet he liveth.

IV. Resolved, that the resolutions be placed upon the records of this bank and that a copy be sent the family of our departed friend and also the press of the city for publication.

W. D. THOMPSON,

Sec'y Board of Directors.

MINISTER'S CONFERENCE.

It Resolves to Set Aside One Sunday for the Hospitals.

The Minister's conference held its first meeting this evening in the Y. M. C. A. rooms yesterday afternoon, and elected the following officers:

President, The Rev. W. Hall Williams.

Vice-president, The Rev. W. J. Ross.

Secretary, The Rev. J. K. Smith.

There was no regular paper for discussion, but the minutes considered the feasibility of holding a hospital Sunday. Dr. Schuyler C. Graves was

Dr. Kishorford of the staff of the U. B. A. hospital was present, and advocated the scheme. The institution needs money to pay its current expenses, and the nature of its work brings it under the head of legitimate objects for church assistance. Nobody was present from the staff of St. Mark's. The minister took kindly to the idea, and when Dr. John L. Jackson offered a resolution that a Sunday be set aside for the purpose of making collections for the benefit of the hospitals, it was unanimously adopted. It was decided to appoint a committee to make the arrangements, and Mr. Williamson will announce the names next week.

APPEAL TO THE CHARITABLE.

Mr. Rosenthal Writes an Open Letter to a Generous Public.

Through the kindness of Mr. Warrburg, who volunteers the services of his famous band, there will be given a grand concert at Lockery hall on next Monday evening, October 8. Ladies will also kindly volunteered to appear in full dress, rendering their famous musical drill. The entire proceeds of this entertainment are to be distributed among the worthy poor under the direction of the Charity Organization society. Tickets of admission have been placed at the low price 25 cents so that all persons charitable in heart may have the opportunity of contributing their mite in aid of the great cause of charity. There is a great need of charity funds at this time. Thousands out of employment and the winter at hand means suffering to many if relief is not prompt. Will you aid us? The person that will contribute to this entertainment can do so with the full assurance that his or her contribution will be judiciously given in relief of actual wants. Let the hall be crowded to the doors.

Yours respectfully,

J. W. ROSENTHAL,

Chairman Executive Committee Charity Organization Society.

Must Make Affidavits.

There must also be attached to each of the schedules sent to Washington an affidavit by the outgoing collector that he has used due diligence to collect the taxes transferred and that to the best of his knowledge and belief none of them have been collected and that the failure to collect is not justly chargeable to any lack of diligence on the part of the collector or his deputies. Any collector going out of office who transfers to his successor in office all taxes in his hands, accompanied by the required affidavits and in accordance with instructions, will immediately receive credit therefor in his account and his successor will be charged with the same.

The outgoing collector must transfer to his successor all stamps for distilled spirits, fermented liquors, tobacco, snuff and cigars and special taxes remaining on hand.

A collector must receipt for, and he is charged with, all the taxes transferred to him by his predecessor in office that are covered by the schedules above mentioned, and the same course is taken with reference to the stamps transferred.

UNCLE SAM IS EXACT

Details Required in Transferring Revenue Offices.

VARIOUS REPORTS DEMANDED

How the Work Was Done Here—J. B. Smith Decides to Remain a Few Weeks to Help Out.

That Uncle Sam demands greater accuracy of his clerks, agents and accountants than any other employer is demonstrated by the careful and detailed work required in transferring the internal revenue office in this district from the control of the Hon. John Smith to the custody of Gen. J. C. Smith. That august individual, Uncle Sam, has delegated D. D. Spaulding of Detroit a special revenue agent, to superintend the work connected with the details of the transfer. Every detail is closely looked after and everything must be accounted for. The work is now going on and the transfer is nearly completed. Collector Smith and his force of deputies are now in possession of the office. Until yesterday J. B. Smith, chief deputy under Collector Skeels, would not consent to serve under the new administration but Special Agent Spaulding and Collector Smith said unless they could get instruction here it would be necessary to send to Washington for an instructor. Under the circumstances J. B. Smith consented to give the new deputy an insight into the business and will stay in the office for a month or two.

How the Change is Made.

Whenever there is a change of collectors by new appointments in a district or by consolidation of districts, the collector must transfer all taxes, except partially used books of coupon stamps having a money value, which should be returned to the commissioner, merchandise in bonded warehouses, records and public property of every description for which he is responsible, to his successor. Whenever a collector gives a new bond under any of the provisions of the law, he also transfers all taxes, stamps and public property from himself to himself as his own successor. In such cases partially used books of coupon stamps may be transferred and the schedules made out in duplicate instead of triplicate. An agent, if it is practicable is detailed to superintend the transfer of the office. He sees that the transfer is properly made and that all stamps, lists, records and public property of every description belonging to the office, is delivered to and received by the incoming officer. Previous to the transfer, the agent must make a full report of it to the treasury department at Washington. A collector on going out of office must transfer to his successor in office all the taxes outstanding on lists in his hands whether delivered to him from the commissioner of internal revenue, collectors of other districts, or by his predecessor in office. This requires the use of nearly a score of schedules which are folded endorsed with distinguishing marks.

These schedules have to be made in triplicate and the receipt of the collector to whom the transfer is made is attached to each of the copies. One copy of the schedule is retained by the outgoing collector, one by the incoming collector and the third sent to the commissioner of internal revenue.

Must Make Affidavits.

There must also be attached to each of the schedules sent to Washington an affidavit by the outgoing collector that he has used due diligence to collect the taxes transferred and that to the best of his knowledge and belief none of them have been collected and that the failure to collect is not justly chargeable to any lack of diligence on the part of the collector or his deputies. ## FOR A DRAW BRIDGE

Board of Trade Demands One at Wealthy Avenue

MAY BE TAKEN INTO COURT

Excursion Down the River Yesterday.

Committee to Meet Tomorrow.

Committee to Meet Tomorrow.

The river improvement committee of the board of trade, planned a ride down the river yesterday on the steamer Harriet from the landing to the C. & W. M. railroad bridge, for the purpose of showing the members of the council the feasibility of changing the plans of the Wealthy avenue bridge so as to provide for a draw to be used in passing vessels in navigation. Only a few aldermen accepted the invitation, but the committee is confident that there is water enough in the river to warrant such a provision in the bridge and will make a great effort to have a draw bridge constructed. The river improvement committee will meet this evening in the board rooms with Congressman Richardson to discuss the subject of navigation for Grand river and some desirable information is expected. The committee is determined to have a draw bridge built at Wealthy avenue where a bridge is constructed there, and if the council does not order it the board of trade announces that it will stop work by an injunction and take an appeal to the United States Supreme court in order to settle the matter. At present the council does not seem disposed to build a draw bridge and if work is once begun the prospects are it will furnish material for a continued litigation in court and it will be some time before a bridge is completed at that point. The board of trade has agitated the subject for several years and it is determined to procure what it asks for if possible.

A Good Head For Business.

IN THE FLY'S OPTION.

Life.

Dr. Edward Payson, the beloved minister of a church in Portland in the first part of our century, was a prospector who could present the truth intrusted to him with a wise skill and tenderness of feeling calculated to disarm the most prejudiced foe.

Even in administering a rebuke he was ever tactful and gentle, and one instance of such care is often related of him.

"What makes you blush so?" said a reckless fellow in the stage to a plain country girl who was receiving the mail bag at the postoffice from the hand of the driver.

Dr. Payson, who sat near him and had been until this moment unobserved, gave the girl no time to answer.

"Perhaps," he said gently, "it is because some one spoke rudely to her when the stage was along here last time."

Doctor.—Oh, that doesn't matter in the least. You see, a mule has no faith in the veterinary surgeon, and yet he cures him all the same.—Tagliacozzi Rendachan.
